II. DESCRIPTION OF SERVICE

Who We Are

The Salvation Army has a rich and storied history, having been founded in 1865 with a mission to support individuals and communities in need. Over the years, the organization has adapted to address various societal challenges, including health and safety education. A key component of the mission at the Salvation Army is to assist human needs without discrimination, part of their larger commitment of doing the most good. They are estimated to have helped over 27 million people in the United States, have 1.8 million members, and serve in 138 countries around the world.

What We Provide

Part of Salvation Army's mission of helping humankind is providing First Aid and CPR training, which empowers individuals with essential skills to respond effectively in emergencies. Since partnering with Seattle Children's Care in 2018, the Salvation Army has expanded its outreach, enabling countless people across the nation to gain critical knowledge in First Aid and CPR. Salvation Army Northwest offers multiple various types of courses across the Greater Seattle Area, each focusing on a different aspect of first-aid care, including physical as well as psychological. Our course offerings include but are not limited to: Group Crisis Intervention, CPR and AED certification, Emergency Assistance in Disaster Operations, etc.

Why First Aid

First Aid knowledge is a crucial skill that is important to everyone's safety. First Aid can not only save lives, but also prevent existing conditions from deteriorating in emergency. With medical emergencies, time is of the essence, as many situations require immediate action to ensure the patient does not worsen significantly before paramedics can arrive. With adequate First Aid knowledge, we can make life safer for everyone, even in the most dire situations.

Learning first aid is essential for empowering individuals to respond effectively to emergencies and potentially save lives. Equipped with first aid skills, people can provide immediate care in critical situations such as cardiac arrests, severe bleeding, choking, or injuries from accidents, which can make a significant difference in the outcome before professional medical help arrives. First aid knowledge also promotes safety awareness, enabling individuals to prevent accidents and handle minor health issues, reducing the burden on healthcare systems. Furthermore, possessing first aid skills fosters a sense of confidence and preparedness, allowing individuals to act swiftly and calmly during crises, thereby enhancing community resilience and support. Overall, learning first aid is a vital skill that contributes to personal safety, community health, and collective well-being.

The First Aid and CPR program covers a comprehensive range of essential skills, including:

- Assisting an Unconscious Individual
- CPR Techniques for All Ages
- Recognizing and Responding to Emergencies
- Controlling External Bleeding
- Performing the Heimlich Maneuver
- Using an Automated External Defibrillator (AED)
- Handling Head, Neck, and Back Injuries
- Identifying Signs of Cardiac Arrest

STRENGTHS • Recognized reputation and trust • Experienced instructors • Community integration of volunteers and learners	WEAKNESSES • Limited funds as a not-for-profit organization • Perceived religious affiliation • Dependent on volunteer instructors
OPPORTUNITIES • Increasing demand for first-aid skills • Partnerships and collaborations with government and private organizations	THREATS • Competition from specialized training providers • Donations dependent on generosity of contributors and state of the economy

III. CAMPAIGN OBJECTIVES

Increase Enrollment in First Aid Courses

This objective focuses on increasing the enrollment of Salvation Army Northwest’s First Aid classes. Through our in-person and online marketing efforts, we aim to raise enrollment in Salvation Army Northwest’s First Aid classes. We are targeting 1,000 new students between all age groups and demographics.

KEY METRICS: # of new enrollees, # of returning participants

Increase Outreach through Online Channels

We aim to significantly raise awareness of Salvation Army’s First Aid courses by spreading the message through Instagram and Facebook, a social media channel. Currently, @Salvationarmynorthwest has 1,713 followers. With our targeted posts and advertising programs, we aim to achieve 5K followers on both platforms, 1,500 mentions/shares with the campaign hashtag (#SaLSA), and a Click-Through Rate of 3%. Through our paid advertising, we aim to reach 50,000 new impressions.

KEY METRICS: # of new followers on channels, # of unique impressions, CTR

Boost Community Awareness

With this objective, we aim to involve the community in joining our efforts in bringing first-aid education to everyone. For this objective, we aim to hold at least 10 community workshops or informational sessions that give previews of our courses, with at least 100 attendees at each event. We will also administer a pre- and post- informational session of our survey to gauge engagement and quality of instruction.

KEY METRICS: # of participants of activities, # of participants who increase their score on survey

#ShareWithSaLSA

One of our marketing channels is social media, particularly Instagram and Facebook. These media sharing platforms boast a wide user base and are popular among young adults and adolescents, making them ideal for marketing to our primary target audience. Instagram is perfect for sharing informational posts and longer, detailed videos that viewers can share easily. We plan to use Facebook for its specialty in engaging and entertaining posts that have the potential to go viral.

We will produce short, high-quality photo and video posts comprising a mix of information about both the actual first-aid courses along with information about the dates and times of our various community events, where people can enjoy salsa music and food while learning basic first aid tips. Each post will end with a call-to-action (CTA) directing viewers to sign up for first aid classes.

In-Feed Ads (Instagram and Facebook): These ads will appear in the users' feeds and will feature the created videos and images. They will have clear CTAs like "Learn First Aid," "Join Our SaLSA Events," and "Register Now."

Stories Ads (Instagram): Utilize Instagram Stories for shorter, more immediate content that drives urgency. Stories will showcase quick clips of the pop-up events and direct users to swipe up for more information.

Paid Boost (Instagram and Facebook): On both of our platforms, we will pay for each of our informational and advertising posts to be "boosted" to reach greater audiences that it may not have otherwise. This ensures we are able to make the greatest number of unique impressions across all of our channels. We will also encourage our followers to use the hashtag to promote unity and consistency to create a presence that is easily and readily recognizable among the community.

Pop-Up SaLSA Tasting

The Salvation Army will have Pop-Up Salsa Tasting events, where the excitement of salsa pairs with the vital skills taught in our first aid courses. This unique experience, organized by a dedicated team of 8 staff and volunteers, offers a chance to sample a variety of delicious salsas while learning about the life-saving training available through the Salvation Army's first aid courses.

Held on the weekends across multiple outdoor community parks, these events will feature live first aid demonstrations, providing attendees with an engaging introduction to skills such as CPR, wound care, and emergency response techniques. Passersby can drop by and enjoy fresh salsas, and learn about how the Salvation Army can help them be prepared, informed, and ready to make a difference.

- Marymoor Park (Sammamish)
- Blyth Park (Bothell)
- Perrigo Park (Redmond)

- Saturdays and Sundays
 - 11:00 AM - 4:00 PM

SaLSA Senior Night

Our SaLSA Senior Nights will provide a fun and relaxing opportunity for the elderly community to come together and enjoy salsa-themed activities while also becoming informed about relevant first-aid information. These events would comprise games, chances to win first-aid related prizes, and guest speakers.

We would host these events in senior centers in the Greater Seattle Area to focus on where they are already located, accommodating for those who have decreased mobility or do not have a mode of transportation. One will be held at Chateau Retirement Communities' Bothell Senior Living on the Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 8:30, one at North Creek Senior Living on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 8:30, and one at Woodland Terrace Senior Living from 5:30 to 8:30. We will be inviting guest speaker and physician Dr. Manoj Easaw to be giving informational talks about the importance of first-aid for the senior population and how staying active can promote physical and mental wellbeing.

SaLSA Dancing

SaLSA Dancing is a unique program designed for middle-aged individuals and couples seeking an enjoyable way to stay active while learning essential life-saving skills. These dance sessions combine the energy of salsa dancing with vital first aid techniques, including the Heimlich maneuver, CPR, and other emergency responses.

Led by professional dance instructors in partnership with certified first aid specialists, each class integrates dance steps with practical life-saving demonstrations, ensuring participants gain both new skills on the dance floor and invaluable knowledge for real-life emergencies. SaLSA Dancing offers a meaningful opportunity to stay engaged, prepared, and empowered in a lively and supportive environment. These events will be hosted every Friday evening throughout the SaLSA campaign, from 6:30 PM to 8:00 PM at the Hyatt Regency Grand Ballroom.

SaLSA at Schools

SaLSA at Schools brings essential, age-appropriate first aid skills directly to young learners. Designed to be interactive and engaging, these monthly sessions held at elementary school assemblies in the Greater Seattle Area teach foundational life-saving techniques tailored specifically for students, such as safe bandaging, basic wound care, calming breathing techniques, and how to call for help in emergencies.

Certified first aid instructors guide students through these skills using kid-friendly language and hands-on activities, empowering young participants to feel confident and prepared in everyday situations. With each session, SaLSA at Schools helps build a generation of informed, proactive students who can respond safely and effectively to minor emergencies.

SaLSA Kits

All enrollees in the Salvation Army's first aid courses will receive a complimentary Salsa Kit. These kits include essential first-aid materials such as adhesive bandages, antiseptic wipes, gauze pads, and a detailed guide for addressing common injuries and emergencies.

In addition to these critical supplies, each Salsa Kit also features a secret recipe for our signature salsa, encouraging participants to enjoy a flavorful and fun culinary experience at home. By combining practical first-aid resources with a unique culinary twist, the Salsa Kit enhances the learning experience, fostering a sense of community and encouraging individuals to share their newfound skills and delicious salsa creations with friends and family. Through this initiative, the Salvation Army aims to encourage enrollment in their first aid courses.

Budget Breakdown

The budget allocates $44529.80 to execute a comprehensive marketing campaign centered around first aid courses. A significant portion of the funds, $42,690.00, is dedicated to the production and distribution of 1,000 first aid kits, along with their shipping costs. To generate buzz and attract potential participants, the campaign invests in social media promotion, with $450.00 allocated for Instagram and Facebook post promotions. Additionally, $100.00 is set aside for first aid prizes to incentivize participation in senior night activities.

Key Components

The campaign leverages various channels to engage the target audience. Pop-up salsa tasting events with free salsa and chips are planned, and table rentals for these events are budgeted at $250.00. The Hyatt Regency Grand Ballroom is secured for a salsa dancing event, with a rental cost of $900.00. No direct costs are associated with the "Salsa at Schools" component, as the Salvation Army will provide the necessary equipment for first aid demonstrations.

Strategic Approach

This integrated marketing campaign aims to reach a wide audience through a multi-pronged approach. By combining social media promotion, engaging events, and the distribution of valuable first aid kits, the campaign seeks to raise awareness of the importance of first aid knowledge and encourage enrollment in first aid courses. The strategic allocation of funds ensures that the campaign can effectively execute its objectives and deliver a positive impact on the community.

IV. KEY METRICS

The following key metrics provide a quantitative measure to evaluate our progress in meeting our three key objectives throughout our integrated marketing campaign.

Objective 1: Increase Enrollment in First Aid Courses

Number of New Enrollees

- By tracking the number of individuals who register for a First Aid class for the first time during SaLSA through a QR code sign up we can see a significant increase in new enrollees indicating the effectiveness of strategies to reach the target audience.
- Identify new enrollees based on their unique identifiers (e.g., name, email, phone number)

Target: 350 new enrollees

Number of Returning Participants

- Tracking the participants through sign up sheet and calculating the percentage of returning participants compared to the total number of participants from the previous activity
- A higher returning participant rate indicates strong customer satisfaction, loyalty, and effective program delivery.

Target: 20% of participants return for another activity

Objective 2: Increase Outreach through Online Channels

Number of New Followers on Social Media

- Tracking the net increase in followers across all relevant social media platforms (Facebook and Instagram) during SaLSA will directly measure our growth
- An increase in followers indicates successful engagement with the target audience and effective social media marketing
Target: 5,000 followers

Number of Unique Impressions/CTR

- Calculating the percentage of users who click on a specific link or call-to-action within our social media content will measure the effectiveness of your content in driving engagement and directing users to desired actions (ads, sign-ups)
- High CTR indicates compelling marketing.

Target: 3% CTR/50,000 impressions

Objective 3: Boost Community Awareness

Number of Workshop Participants

- Track the total number of individuals who attend the community workshops or informational sessions to directly measure the outreach efforts and the level of community engagement
- A higher number of participants indicates successful community outreach and interest in first-aid education.

Target: 1,000 participants

Increase in Score of Survey

- Administer a pre-workshop survey to assess participants' knowledge and interest in first aid
- Administer a post-workshop survey to measure the increase in knowledge and interest
- Calculate the average increase in scores from pre- to post-workshop surveys
- Measures the effectiveness of the workshops in increasing participants' knowledge and interest in first aid
- A significant increase in survey scores indicates successful knowledge transfer and engagement

Target: Average Increase of 3 points
